With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!

Whose blood to maintain the banner your sires must save.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 6, 1863

The Duty of All.

No true patriot whose heart is fired with zealous, honest and enthusiastic love of country, will insist upon a favorite policy as a consideration for his loyalty He may struggle fairly and earnestly for its adoption but when it is defeated and an opposite theory is adopted, he will cordially support the constituted authorities Otherwise and especially at a time like this, he fails in the first duty of a citizen, and plays the part of a rebel When great armies are in the field, mustered for the ruin of the country, shall we hold our patriotism in check, or speak words of an uncertain sound, or quibble and hesitate about the failure, to adopt some favorite theory, or delay the wheels of the nation's chariot as it goes forth to meet and crush the foe, for any cause whatsoever? The grand, paramount duty is to support, animate and encourage the Government in this great peril, and the ugly the plans adopted may not in our judgment be the best, yet as somebody must decide in all cases, and the choice is not left to us, we must gracefully yield to what we cannot control, or by longer opposition, place ourselves in the ranks of those who oppose the Government. We do not mean that it is wrong or unpatriotic to criticise in a fair and manly way any action, or to warn the country of any impending danger to its true interests To do these, is the right of every citizen of a free republic, but when we go beyond this, and strive to impair public confidence, and weaken the power of the Government, we cease to be friendly to our institutions, and become their foes. Officers and soldiers may not approve measures of a commander, but for this reason shall they be permitted to question or disobey the order of a superior? If so, the army would become a mob—the plaything of personal or political popularity So, also, if an Administration, once legally in power, has plans by which it seeks to accomplish great national purposes, it is necessary that every good citizen, while it is pursuing those plans, should heartily and warmly co operate with it. In doing this, no sacrifices no personal right or honest independence, nor is he compelled to approve of every petty act that does not directly tend to the promotion of the great measures of public safety and prosperity He may denounce as boldly as he chooses all corruption of officials, all frauds of scheming leeches on the public treasury and all the ignorance and unfitness which disgrace the public service in local positions, but he is bound to nourish in his soul the love of his country—and not the love of his party, or the fear of any other party, or the love or hatred of any particular man or set of men. If the love of his country—whole, undivided and indivisible, is kept burning in his heart, this will make all duties clear to him. He will sink the partisan, and become the consistent, faithful patriot

SMALL-POX AT VICTORIA —The Colonist of a late date denies that a thousand or twelve hundred bodies of Indians, who had died of the small pox, were lying unburied in the vicinity of Victoria That paper accuses the Oregonian of originating the report to injure Victoria The report was copied from the Victoria Chronicle, and the files of the Colonist will show that it was not contradicted by that paper at the time it was published; from which we infer that it was a fact about which there was no dispute, and from an English gentleman residing at Victoria, we subsequently learned that Indian corpses, dead from small-pox, were lying near the Indian Reserve in hundreds. This is our authority for believing the original statement of the Chronicle, and we do so yet. If it is injurious to Victoria to have this fact known it is certainly a greater injury to thousands to have them come without warning to that city to be made the victims of a loathsome disease The Colonist states that the disease is abating which we are glad to learn, and hope it will be the last affliction of the kind our British neighbors will be called on to bear

DONE AWAY WITH —Washington Territory has been detached from the jurisdiction of Special Post office Agent Watmus and Collector Smith appointed to the duties heretofore exercised by the former in said Territory. For the new service of course, he gets no compensation, as he is already in receipt of one salary from the Government

NEW POST OFFICES —Commissions have been received for the following Postmasters in Oregon: Jacob Conser, Jefferson Marion county, and Newman Fisher, for the new office at Dardanelles Jackson county

NAVAL.—On the 21st ult there were about 5,000 men at work in Brooklyn Navy Yard, N Y., 1 500 at Portsmouth, N H and 2, 000 at Philadelphia The whole of the nine Monitor floating batteries are now afloat.

BANKS —There are 1,496 banks in the loyal States, with a capital of $419 701,812 The amount of specie now in these institutions is greater than it has been at any one time within ten years, except in 1859

LETTER BY SECRETARY SEWARD —The following letter from Secretary Seward appears in the Eastern papers

DEPARTMENT OF STATE }
Washington January 1863 }

Dear Sir I thank you for bringing to my notice allegations made in some of the newspapers of Wisconsin, to the effect that, during the recent election, I wrote letters into the 1st Congressional District of that State, counseling the defeat of the Hon John F Potter, who was the republican candidate

I have no hesitation in stating to you that at no time within fifteen years last past have I ever written a letter or spoken a word to any person, near or far off, designed to influence any party, or any portion of the people in casting their suffrages for President Vice President, Governor, Senator, Congressman, or other candidates and this is true even in regard to the State and Congressional District in which I live Of course, I except from this denial such public, verbal, or written addresses as I have made to mass meetings—every one of which, I believe was numerically and widely reported at the time But I think that even these will be found never to have been censorious toward political opponents and I know that they were always faithful to the candidates of the party or cause in whose name and service I spoke and wrote.

During the period of fifteen years which I have reviewed, I have had the common fortune of public men New friends have come to my side, and old friends have fallen off from me I absolve all such, and all correspondence of every class and all obligations of confidence toward me and give my full consent to the publication of every line I have written and every word I have spoken in relation to candidates campaigns or elections

Yours, very truly,
WM H, SEWARD

To Brig Gen REUEL KING

PARTICULARS OF THE MURDER AT LAFAYETTE. —We publish the following communication containing the particulars of the recent murder at Lafayette

LAFAYETTE March 2, 1863

EDITOR OREGONIAN

A willful and cold blooded murder was perpetrated in this town on Saturday night last E Griffin without any cause known to any of the citizens, shot B F Shuve through the body, causing death almost immediately—the victim not speaking after being shot The murder was committed at the store of H H Snow, in the presence of the clerk, between 7 and 8 o'clock Griffin is a blacksmith, and Shuve a carpenter Griffin had been drinking, but at the time was not drunk. It appears from circumstances that the deed was premeditated, as Griffin had his clothes packed in his carpet sack and left in his shop After committing the act, he left for sometime and returned, having left his revolver, but, as the citizens had been there and removed his clothes so that he could not find them, he came to the Lafayette House and was arrested and brought before C Moore, J P, who committed him to jail to await his trial before the Circuit Court which will commence in this county on the second Monday in April Shuve was a man of but few words and was peaceably disposed

RESOURCES OF THE REBELLION —In the report of Quartermaster General Meigs, he makes an able and elaborate argument on the character of the rebellion and its resources. He thinks that "the labor of the colored man supports the rebel soldier, enables him to leave his plantation to meet our armies, builds his fortifications, cooks his food, and sometimes aids him on picket by his rare skill with the rifle," and that the destruction of the rebel armies, and the gradual occupation of the country, by fortifying and garrisoning its chief strategic and commercial points, are the only conclusion to the war. In this work, he adds, the loyal inhabitants of the country, white or black, must be compelled to assist, and it is impossible to cast aside the millions of recruits who will offer themselves for the work, accustomed to the climate, inured, to labor, acquainted with the country, and animated by the strong desire not merely for political but for personal liberty Gen Meigs, like Gen Halleck, has been regarded as ultra conservative on the negro question

FRIGHTENED REBELS —The Richmond Examiner of Jan 20th has a remarkable article of which the following is an extract

The truth is the Yankees are in great force in the very heart of the Confederacy They swarm on all our borders, and nearly two hundred thousand of them are within two days' march of the Confederate Capital The Yankees have much to encourage them in the prosecution of the war, and we see not a little to excite serious apprehensions as to the future. There is a limit to the endurance of the brave men at Pollahoma, Grenada and Vicksburg They must be sustained, strengthened and reinforced If, in the next two months we do not add seventy five or one hundred thousand men to our forces in the South west, we shall come to grief If we do add them we are safe beyond peradventure, and next summer will witness the final triumph of our arms

PACIFIC RAILROAD —The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer has the following

There is not a little gossip afloat in the streets concerning the preliminary organization of the great Pacific Railroad the substance of which may be boiled down into a Political manœuvre to be hatched for the chief cooks in the Fifth Avenue where grand illuminations are to be held, with festive accompaniments A preliminary meeting was held the other evening, Samuel Hallett presiding. General Fremont was talked of as President of the concern, Greeley, Counselling Agent and Kennard of the Great Western Railroad, as Engineer These 'manœuvres' as I have said are making a deal of talk in 'railroad circles' and on the 'street' generally

A VOICE FROM NORTH CAROLINA—PLAIN TALK —The Raleigh Standard in speaking of the rebel authorities at Richmond, holds the following language

They labored to break down the old Government because they were shut up to the "beef" [slavery] and they would wreck the new one before they would part with the carcass upon which vultures are settled Their motto was 'divide and destroy' and their motto now is 'consolidate and rule' Hence they are the destructives and those who oppose them are the conservatives We still walk the soil and breathe the air of freedom, and are not to be influenced in our course by the blandishments or the frowns of power

PRINTING PAPER —Bonnell, of the New York Ledger, announces that he don't want any more subscribers He pays almost as much for white paper as he gets for the printed sheets, and it will not pay to increase his list, at present

The Monitor is a perfect failure being too top heavy and she is lying at Kinkett's with a scow on each side to keep her afloat At several times she has been taken out in the stream with the scows alongside, but when once it was attempted to move the scows she careened to such a degree that they were obliged to replace them and bring her back to her moorings For upwards of three weeks was she tried in this manner but at last tired out with attempts to make her set right in the water they have given her up, and acknowledge her a failure

At the Tredegar works they have 600 men at work, mainly on shot and guns but the latter are mostly unserviceable the metal which they are working being of inferior quality and in one or two it has burst Lately several guns have been condemned on this account and they are now bringing them with wrought iron On the 5th January about 1,000 prisoners were marched from the prison to the works, and are engaged in work there and on the following Monday they all were to work Fifty had previously taken the oath to the Confederacy

The city is well fortified at every point, and the fortifications are said to be manned by a small number of men They have over one hundred guns in position around the city The main body of the rebel army is said to be at or about mid way between Fredericksburg and Richmond on the railroad There is said to be considerable Union sentiment yet in the city

Even secesh is becoming sick of the war They however, believe that they are to be successful, and claim that the proclamation of President Lincoln will cause many of the Union soldiers to lay down their arms They say that Gen Seymour will not allow any troops to go to leave New York or Washington, but that other conservative Generals will follow this same course

WHAT GOV SEYMOUR INTENDS TO DO —Such was the heading to a communication that appeared from time to time in the Democratic Standard, urging upon us to govern ourselves accordingly Well, Seymour has been inaugurated, and what has he done? Just nothing at all for which the South cares a farthing. Instead of putting forth a mighty and potent arm programme for revolution at home and peace with the South, he ignores the whole question, and leaves matters just where he found them Not a word is said about compelling the Abolition Government at Washington to do this and to do that, nothing at all cutting off New England and leaving her out in the cold, nothing about peace or war Put not your trust in princes," is a good maxim for the South The Democracy of the North are for relieving their own shoulders of the burthen of oppression, not for taking sides to keep the load off of ours They will help rather to put it on, and so we will find it in the end Peace and independence abide alone in our own strong arms and stout hearts.—Savannah Republican

ALABAMA BUSINESS —A Washington letter of the 25th January says Recent advices from England represent that the secret of the Rebel Government's having decided to recall Mason and Slidell is the fact that these gentlemen have received intimation that they had better retire, to avoid being notified that they could not much longer remain near the English and French courts in the capacity of Commissioners from the Rebel Confederacy It is believed that the English Government is coming to grief on the Alabama business The French Government is uneasy lest its mediation movement should be considered as placing it too much in antagonism to this country It is understood to be remonstrating with England permitting the Alabama to be fitted out in her ports and representing that she must be held responsible for the damage done by the pirate

WAR AND TAXES.—Notwithstanding the war, property in Cincinnati increased nearly a million of dollars last year, while the taxation of the city fell off nearly a quarter of a million as compared with the year previous

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

Legal Tender Notes this Day—52 cents.

CITY COUNCIL.—The Municipal Legislature failed to connect on Wednesday evening, as usual, and no harm was done. Gentlemen your time is short—there will be an election next month, and some of the voters may be so ungenerous as to remember sundry short comings, neglects of duty, &c., &c. Sir if you want to stand well on the record please to be rather more punctual and prompt, and, above all, see that the abominably muddy streets are put in better order, for now they are a disgrace to the city, and particularly to you.

LECTURE TO NIGHT.—Do not forget the lecture of Judge Wyche to night at the Academy. From the well known abilities of the gentleman, it is inferred that the lecture will be a good one.

THANKS.—We thank Mr S J McCormick, of the Franklin Book Store, for furnishing us a file of papers last evening. He has been very attentive of late, in that line.

NO NEWS.—We received dispatches up to the 26th ult., last evening. We expect later news to-night than received by the steamer.

OPPOSITION PROGRAMME.—We are informed that the new steamers, Col Baker D Hukes master, and Ina, H M Knighton, master are rapidly approaching completion, and will be ready on their respective routes by the first of next month. The Cayuse, L White, master, will also be ready to run by that time above the Deschutes. It is said that after July 1st the Relief on the Upper Willamette will run in the same line, and that connection with her will be made by some boat between here and Oregon City. We think we may safely say that traveling by water in this State is likely to be cheap during the summer.

JUST DECISION.—A blind lady has recovered $1,000 from a New York court, on account of injuries received from a defect in the sidewalk. The court decided that it is the duty of the city to keep the walks in so good repair that even the blind can walk therein without danger or injury. This decision permits everybody hereafter to "go it blind" in that that city.

GUNS.—Guns were invented by Swartz a German, about 1378, and were brought into use by the Venitians in 1382. Cannon were invented at an anterior date. They were first used at the battle of Cressy, in 1346. In England they were first used at the siege of Berwick in 1405. It was not until 1544, however that they were cast in England. They were used on board the ships by the Venitians in 1539, and were in use among the Turks about the same time. An artillery company was instituted in England for weekly military exercises in 1610.

STANDING ARMIES.—The first standing army of modern times was established by Charles VII of France, in 1445. Previous to that, the king had depended upon his nobles for contingents in time of war. A standing army was first established in England in 1638, by by Charles I., but it was declared illegal, as well as the organization of the Royal Guards in 1679. The first permanent military band instituted in England was the Yeomen of the Guards, established in 1486.

Storage.—THE FIRE PROOF STONE WAREHOUSE, opposite Umpqua House is the only building not made of wood at the Dalles, where goods are taken on STORAGE. All other houses that take goods on storage are wooden buildings and in exposed parts of the town liable to the risk of fire. The subscriber assures his patrons that his charges are but $1 50 per ton per month storage and although storage in wooden buildings is $1 00 per ton yet the public cannot fail to perceive the advantages the subscriber possesses over other warehouses of this place.

White's Fever and Ague Drops—For the cure of AGUE, PANAMA FEVER, NEURALGIA and GENERAL DEBILITY.

This medicine has been used in private practice for many years with great success. Indeed in many instances has it failed to effect a speedy cure in Ague especially, not a bottle having been found sufficient in most cases and in none are more than two bottles required.

A great number of testimonials could be given to verify these statements, but the proprietor prefers relying upon the merits of the medicine alone. A cure is guaranteed in nine cases out of ten.

IMPERIAL YEAST POWDERS!

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED and for sale by the Manufacturers Wholesale and Retail, a fresh supply of this justly celebrated article, which have been used in San Francisco and the North for the last three years, and have given universal satisfaction to the consumer, and are pronounced by Physicians to be the most healthful article of the kind ever offered to the public.

BE SURE AND CALL FOR KIDDER'S IMPERIAL YEAST POWDERS, and take no other, as we have had many imitations palmed off upon us, which are worthless.

For sale by the Grocers generally throughout the City.

How the President patronized General Hooker.

When the war broke out Gen Hooker then in California, came post haste to Washington to offer his services to the Government Gen Scott was at the head of the military affairs of the country and between the old gentleman and Gen Hooker there was a feud dating back to the Mexican war hence, as everything relating to the army was referred to Scott, Hooker was sufferd to apply in vain for even a regimental command Disgusted and mad, he made his preparations to return to the Pacific coast, and was about to start, when the first battle of Bull run was fought There was nothing in that to encourage so he went up to the White House, as the last thing before leaving, to call on the President whom he had never seen He was introduced, by some mistake of his friend, as Captain Hooker, and the following was the conversation that ensued 'Mr President I was introduced to you as Captain Hooker I am, or was, Lieutenant-Colonel Hooker, of the regular army When this war began, I was at home in California, and hastened to make a tender of my services to the Government but my relation to Gen Scott, or some other impediment, stands in the way, and I see no chance of making my military knowledge and experience useful I am about to return, but before going I was anxious to pay my respects to you, and to express my wishes for your personal welfare, and for your success in putting down this infernal rebellion And I want, while I am at it to say one thing more I was at Bull Run the other day, Mr President, and it is no vanity or boasting in me to say that I am a sight better general than you, sir, had on that field"

The President, in repeating this speech, says that he looked at the Speaker to see what manner of man he was who made such a boast "His eye was steady and clear, his manner not bad so confident as his words, and altogether he had the air of a man of sense and intelligence, who thoroughly believed in himself, and who would at least try to make his words good I was impressed with him, and rising out of my chair, walked up to him, and putting my hand on his shoulder, said Colonel, not Lieutenant Colonel Hooker say I have use for you, and a regiment for you to command!"

He did stay The promised regiment was put under his orders, and from it he was soon promoted to a brigade, and thence to a major-general's place in command of a division.

"In every position in which he has been put," says Lincoln "Gen Hooker has equalled the expectations which his self confidence excited As a colonel, as a brigadier and as a major general he has done exceedingly well, and should he ever be called to command this army, I have no doubt he would acquit himself as gallantly as any man in the country"

That's the way that Gen Hooker got into the service. In Washington, Lincoln's partiality for him is no secret. When it was determined to remove McClellan, the head of the Fitz John Porter gang, the question of successorship was both important and embarrassing; The President's inclinations and preferences pointed to "Fighting Joe" as the man, and he yielded them to the representations of Gen. Halleck and others with great reluctance, and, as is said, with secret forebodings of what was to follow.

We believe in Hooker because he is thoroughly in earnest, and because he is a man of genius for military affairs. His idea of war is that which all great commanders have had —that it means killing, and that the struggle which is the shortest and fiercest is the least bloody and the most merciful He regards the rebellion as a monster iniquity, to be overcome only by hard knocks; and he would hoot at the man who should affirm that until that rebel army is defeated and scattered, there can be compromise and peace He is in the prime of life; he has a vigorous constitution, an unusually good theoretical education, the value of which he has proved in the field, and he has that high moral courage that dare, for his country's good, accept the possibility of defeat. Still he may fail. He may be rash, impetuous, foolhardy. The confidence which has carried him thus far may be his ruin, but he commands the admiration, the respect and the confidence of the army, and he will not fail without a gallant and a bloody attempt to achieve success He will not, like McClellan, suffer that immense army to rot on his hands. Heaven knows how devoutly we wish for his triumph —Chicago Tribune.

LEGAL TENDERS —A correspondent of the Sonoma county Journal takes a very commonsense view of the Legal Tender question, and suggests a remedy for one of the evils—in fact, the chief evil—which the law creating these notes works We are satisfied that any remedy in the premises must either emanate from Congress or the Supreme Court of the United States. In its present form, the law is a shield to the scoundrel, and of no benefit to the Government beyond what it might be if modified in the manner suggested The writer says.

The legal tender or greenback law is working great injury to honest men in this State and an equal benefit to knaves It furnishes a plausible pretext for many who are disposed to do right to become swindlers and robbers, and in that way it is undermining the morals of our whole community For instance, a man borrowed of a friend in 1861 a large sum of money in gold to make the last payment on his farm, and soon sells half the farm to provide for the payment The purchaser gives his note and mortgage for the piece which is assigned to the friend who loaned the money, before greenbacks were thought of When due, he tenders payment in paper worth only sixty two cents, and saves thirty-eight per cent. of what he promised to pay The generous man who made the loan, to oblige his friend loses his interest and part of his principal by the speculation and the knave makes a net profit of several hundred dollars by operation of the law Any law which encourages and protects swindlers is wrong, is not or should not be binding Congress who passed the law can give a remedy, not by exempting this State from the operation of the legal tender enactment but by an act declaring that the law shall not apply to or affect contracts made previous to its enactment This would remove the objection that it is an ex post facto law, and impairs the obligation of contracts, to which any law that enables a dishonest debtor to pay $100 with $62 must be subject Such a declaratory act would prevent injustice, induce the people to make their contracts on a true basis, and introduce the Government paper currency into general circulation

NOT BAD —During the recent fighting in North Carolina, a chaplain of one of the Massachusetts regiment who was on the field, seeing one of the men of Battery B, 3d New York Artillery being borne off wounded, said to him, "Were you supported by Divine inspiration?' No was the reply 'we were supported by the 9th New Jersey'

Proclamation by the Governor

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, PORTLAND, OREGON, January 6 1863

By the President of the United States, through Brigadier General George Wright, commanding the Department of the Pacific, and Brigadier General Benjamin Alford commanding the District of Oregon, I have been requested to raise six additional companies, required to complete the 1st Regiment of Cavalry, Oregon Volunteers They will be needed the coming Spring on the frontiers of this State and Washington Territory and for an expedition against the Snake Indians who have so long been mercilessly engaged in murdering emigrants and murdering our fellow citizens I cannot doubt that the citizens of Oregon, who have always promptly responded to any demand for their military services, will in like manner respond to this call thereby showing their loyalty to the Government and aiding in chastising marauding bands of Indians which infest our frontiers

The enlisted men, when mounted will be supplied with horses by the United States, it being understood that they will be mounted or not, as shall be deemed advisable by the Government

Propositions to raise a whole company which will furnish their own horses and horse equipments, may be entertained The men are in such cases entitled to forty cents a day for the use and risk of their horses and horse equipments

Each company will consist of one hundred enlisted men, and when mustered into the service of the United States to serve for three years, unless sooner discharged

Recruiting officers will be immediately opened at Portland, Dalles City, and perhaps at other places By the Governor,

ADDISON C GIBBS.

CYRUS A REED, Adjutant General
